Lectures, laboratories and many families at the inauguration of the LidoLudo game space

More than sixty participants at the festival of Venerdì 16 novembre 2012, in the SpazioGiochi LidoLudo, near the Scuola Giovanni XXIII in via Malamocco 12A at the Lido di Venezia.

The SpazioGiochi for children and parents has favored the instaurarsi of new relationships not only between children but also between adults. Staying together, playing, creating with imagination were the key words.

Teresa Gardella, the animator who has welcomed the children and the parents, has set up different corners with recycled materials, games and books diversifying the proposals for the various ages.

All activities refer to an age in which children still have very diversified rhythms between their own and times of attention and concentration still very brief.

proprio for this reason it is chosen to propose activities little structured, that can respond as much as possible to the rhythms and the needs of children.

They have been alternated activities of movement game, like that of the tactile mat and of the sonic files, that have put in evidence the experimentation through the five senses, to creative laboratories like the collage postcards from the world, that has stimulated the creativity of all the children and the girls through the use of various materials starting from the cardboard, colored crepe paper, fabrics of various consistency and journals.

The families were welcomed with some animated readings at the care of the Conta&racconta, group of voluntary readers of BarchettaBlu.

The SpazioGioco is open two days a week, on Wednesday and on Friday afternoon from 16.30 to 18.30.

BarchettaBlu is a research center that projects and realizes services and initiatives for children, families and operators of childhood.
